

Kinder, Gentler Nation - Living Well in Kimberley

Did you know.....Kimberley is known as the Bavarian City of the Rockies. But don't let that fool you.... Leiderhosen has been replaced with RocShocks, Shimano shifters, snow boards, and Volkl ski gear. All of Kimberley's small town charm remains and its gentle climate, myriad of recreational pursuits and community infrastructure are generating a renaissance of ex-urbanists of all ages. Now Kimberley's appeal has expanded to include retirees and those thinking about it, to young families wanting a small town outdoorsy lifestyle, and to a burgeoning recreational home market coming to ski some of the most consistent snow in BC, hike and bike the more than 1000 acres of Nature Paths and otherwise recreate and relax in the great outdoors. Live well in Kimberley - it's a quaint mountain town big on small town values and community.

Delta Airlines summer service has just begun and will provide direct flights weekly between Salt Lake City, Utah (SLC) and Cranbrook's Canadian Rockies International Airport (YXC) just a short 25 km away from DreamCatcher. In addition to the regular regional air services, this makes getting into - and out of -the Kimberley region a breeze!

Travel safe this summer!
